

Rita Paskowitz
Storyteller/Educator

October 31, 2010

To whom it may concern:

As a Professional Storyteller, an Instructor in the College of Education at the University of Nebraska/Omaha, and a life-long learner, I don't often meet someone that I would recommend without reservation.

Susi Wolf, however, I would suggest to anyone – whatever his/her level of storytelling knowledge. She understands the transformational power of story and how to impart it to others. She is a treasure trove of folk and animal tales and uses these works to connect us to the world outside us - as well as the world within us.

She is accessible, smart and engaging - a dream-teacher come true. If I weren't working in Omaha, I'd sign up for her class - "In Our Own Voice - Learning To Tell Personal Stories For Empowerment" – and be sure I had a front row seat.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully yours –

Rita Paskowitz

Rita Paskowitz

5504 Corby Street, #4
Omaha, NE 68104

storywitz@gmail.com
402/558-0864